

Data Protection in the Northern Ireland Workplace eLearning Module

Data Protection in the Northern Ireland Workplace

MENU

Fundamentals of the Data Protection Act

8 Principles of Data Protection

Information Security

Data Breaches – Actual Cases

Assessment

Brand
New to Northern Ireland

“An interactive and engaging eLearning experience, giving a good grounding in the principles and application of the Data Protection Act – suitable for any organisation handling personal data.”

Deirdre Allison Yearn2Learn Training, an ILM Approved Development Provider, Belfast

This easy to access eLearning module is tailored specifically to meet the needs of Northern Ireland organisations.

It provides thorough data protection training suitable for all employees.

What's in the Module?

- Fundamentals of the Data Protection Act
- Key Terms and Definitions
- 8 Principles of Data Protection
- Information Security

Who should do this training?

Everyone in your organisation.

Why do this training?

- Meet your legal requirements.
- Prevent large fines.
- Protect against data breaches.
- Upskill your employees.
- Raise awareness.
- Reduce your training costs.

Why use eLearning?

Most organisations accept eLearning has a number of benefits including:

- Ease of Administration – our simple to follow training environment allows you to easily check who has completed the course and who has not, who has passed the training and who may need follow-up action.
- User Convenience – the data protection module can be completed at the user's convenience. The module may be paused as many times as the user wishes, or alternatively completed in one go; taking around 40 mins.
- Assessed Training – successful users will automatically receive a certificate indicating they have passed the course. This means you have a record that they have passed, and so do they.

Cost from £10 per person

Other titles available

Equality & Diversity
Child Safeguarding

Special features of this eLearning module

There are many special features of this eLearning module which make it truly unique. These include:

- Latest Research – this module is based on latest research from the US on how to make eLearning really effective. Pilot users of the module rated it “highly engaging” and “very interactive”.
- Expertise – the module has been devised by a team of data protection experts and lawyers based in Northern Ireland to make sure the content is directly applicable to organisations here in this jurisdiction.
- Assessed – the module includes an end-of-course assessment to ensure that users have understood key components of the training.
- Record Keeping – the module comes with an easy-to-use, secure Learning Management System (LMS). At any stage, a designated senior staff member can access the site to check which employees have completed the training and which have not.

What next?

Contact elearning@legal-island.com for complimentary access.

“This Data Protection eLearning is easy to understand and holds the viewer’s attention. The report functionality is an excellent feature assisting organisations with their compliance audits.”

Mark Reid Solicitor, Derry/Londonderry

